BERLIN, Aug. 1 .- [Copyright 1891 by the New York Associated Press.]—The frauds on the Deutsche bank perpetrated by its clerk Franck and Broker Schwieger have excited the whole German financial world to a degree unknown since the embezziements of the two directors of the Leipsia Disconto Goessellschaft. The full extent of the frauds on the Deutsche bank has not been disclosed. It is believed that future returns of the forged paper will swell the total amounnt involved in the frauds to an enormous sum.

Franck dealt largely in lottery speculations and carried on a general speculative game under the very noses of the bank directors for years with an adroitness suggesting that Schweiger is right in his statement that Franck originated the frauds and used him as a tool. The bank has offered a reward for Franck's capture. The immediate effect of the swindle threatened for the moment to produce a grave financial crisis. The position of several banks involved in the South American collapse and weakened through existing Horses May Meet Againbourse embarrasaments, is so delicate that any sudden strain may lead to a break down.
Luckily the press and public accepted the statements of a reassuring character issurd by various banks.
